Barbara Reeder, 17, Fatally Injured When Auto Leaves Curve On Route 13

Donna Aldridge,
17, in Hospital;
2 Others Treated

A 17-year-old Harrisburg girl was fatally injured last night when the auto in which she was riding left a curve on Route 13 in Gallatin county.

Dead is Barbara Reeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Reeder of 116 South Skaggs street. She died at 1:30 a. m. today in Ferrell hospital at Eldorado, where she was taken following the crash around 11 p. m.

State Policeman Guthrie Alexander of Harrisburg said he was told that the crash occurred on Koffman corner, just west of the B and W mine, about a mile east of the Routes 1-13 intersection. The car was traveling west, he said.

Injured and in Ferrell hospital is Donna Aldridge, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Obern Aldridge. Extent of her injuries was not known.

Treated and released, Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons said, were Denise Osman and "Bud" Smee, who live south of Harrisburg.

Coroner Gibbons said his investigation indicated that the Osman youth was driving the car. One report he had received, he said, was that a tire on the auto blew out and that the car left the highway and overturned.

The body was moved to the Turner funeral home in Harrisburg. The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Monday with the Rev. Waldo Shelton conducting the service and with burial in Ledford cemetery.

Place of the funeral will be announced later.

Barbara Ann Reeder was born Oct. 29, 1938, the daughter of Delmar and Thelma Reeder. Besides her parents she leaves the following brothers and sisters:

James, Mrs. Alma Odle, Delmar Paul, Robert Dean, Richard, Carolyn Sue, Glenda and Patty Lou.

County Clerk's Office is Entered

The front door of the office of County Clerk Don B. Garrison was entered last night, Deputy Sheriff Jeff Stricklin revealed this morning.

A check was being made to determine the object of the break-in. At mid-morning nothing had been found missing but a search was to be continued.

Whoever entered pried open the front door and apparently left by a rear door, as it was left open, Stricklin stated.

Republicans Work on Policy Statement for New Platform

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Republicans, bent on drafting a "better platform than the Democrats did," disagreed today over "language" details of planks they will present to the GOP National Convention next week.

Chairman of the 10 subcommittees of the Republican Platform Committee met behind closed doors until early today trying to finish a policy statement that would help the GOP in its bid to stay in power after the November elections.

Thurston Morton, chairman of the Foreign Relations subcommittee, said the executive body had the "substance of the platform pretty well laid down."

But Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) chairman of the over-all Platform Committee, said "we've still got a lot of language to agree on."

Report Later Today
Bush said the subcommittee chairman hoped to have their recommendations ready for presentation to a scheduled meeting of the full 105-member Platform Committee later today.

The subcommittee chairmen have held two late night sessions trying to agree on the basic ideas that would support the GOP campaign in the fall elections.

Overall the platform chairmen have indicated that the finished product will be a down the line endorsement of the Eisenhower administration record.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), chairman of the Civil Rights subcommittee, carefully avoided giving any hint of what his plank would contain. But Bush said "you can be sure it will be a very strong statement."

Sen. Irving M. Ives, chairman of the Labor and Welfare subcommittee, said his group has made "no departure from the President's program in our rank."

In addition to Dirksen and Bush, other subcommittee chairmen are such Republican stalwarts as Sen. Arthur Watkins of Utah and Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, chairman of the Education and Labor subcommittee, said his group has made "no departure from the President's program in our rank."

Ives said the platform would contain a "very definite" statement opposing discrimination in employment because of race, color and creed. He said it would also come out for extended social security benefits and extension of the minimum wage law but it would probably not specify which groups were to benefit.

St. Louis Man Killed When Sports Car Overturns in Zeigler

ZEIGLER, Ill. (AP) — Bruce Taylor, 35, of St. Louis, was fatally injured Friday when his sports car overturned at the intersection of routes 148 and 149 in Zeigler.

State police said Taylor was first taken to the Miners Hospital in Christopher, Ill. then was removed to Barnes Hospital in St. Louis where he died.

There were six completions. C. E. Brehm gave no information on his G. R. Johnson "A" No. 1 and "A" No. 2, both in the southwest corner of Section 20, 7s-5e (Tate).

Doyle Smith's Egbert Tate No. 1, NW 1/4 NE 1/4, 30-7s-5e, (Tate), made an oil well in the Aux Vases at 3141-61, with initial production 26 barrels per day on pump after fracture.

Massac Petroleum's P. Galleher No. 1, NE 1/4 NE 1/4, 26-8s-5e (Brushy) made a well in the Cypress with no production figures available.

Dry and abandoned were Inland's Harry Flanders No. 1, NE 1/4 SW 1/4, 1-8s-7e (Eldorado) and the Pitts and Bassford W. H. Bramlet No. 1, NW 1/4 NE 1/4, 30-8s-7e.

Another try for oil is being made on the Walter Unsell farm in Brushy township, formerly owned by John Small. The test is the Unsell-Small No. 2, sw 1/4 section 4, about a mile southeast of Peabody 43 mine. Calvert is the operator, and mine casing was cemented late yesterday by Halliburton. The coal in the area is about 215 feet, and pipe through the coal working area was set to about 275 feet. A previous test on the farm, about one-half mile north, showed oil, but the formation was too tight for production.

DEMOCRATS UNITE BEHIND STEVENSON AND KEFAUVER

U. S., Britain Urge Russia to Aid Settlement

Dulles, Lloyd
Meet With Soviet Foreign Minister

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain urged Russia in secret behind-the-scenes talks today to support Western efforts to arrange a quick settlement of the Suez crisis.

There appeared to be little prospect that Russia would agree. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles met Soviet Foreign Minister D. T. Shepilov at the Russian embassy early today, and two hours later Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd arrived at the embassy to lunch with the bushy-haired Russian.

Between their meetings with Shepilov, Dulles and Lloyd huddled with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau at the Foreign Office to map strategy for today's session of the Suez conference.

Today's meeting was the second time in three days that Dulles and the shaggy Russian had conferred privately. Their first meeting Thursday was followed Friday by Shepilov's conference speech on Suez, which British sources said amounted to outright "rejection of Western plans."

American spokesmen agreed that the Shepilov speech left only "slight room" for agreement. France alone among the Western Big Three considered the situation hopeful, arguing that Shepilov had at least "left the door open" for a possible compromise.

Russia has made it clear from the start that its only reason for sending a representative to the Suez conference was to try to persuade it to accept the Soviet-Egyptian plan for an expanded meeting later this year.

Even as Dulles and Lloyd tried to persuade Shepilov to cooperate, Radio Moscow was reemphasizing Russia's demand for a "wider, more representative conference."

"Obviously, without the participation of Egypt and other countries not represented at the London conference, it is unthinkable that a concrete settlement of these problems can be reached," the broadcast said.

At the same time, it was reported in Cairo that Egypt plans to recruit "resistance battalions," possibly including foreign "volunteers," in its cities and towns to resist any Western effort to seize the canal.

Kefauver, Twice Denied Top Prize, Accepts VP Nomination

CHICAGO (AP) — The tall Tennesseean who rejected the idea of fighting for a Democratic victory next November "as hard as I can."

He stood before the Democratic National Convention Friday night and "with humility" accepted the party's vice presidential nomination.

Twice he was denied its top prize. The opposition of the South, of former President Harry S. Truman and of many top party professionals were roadblocks Kefauver couldn't overcome in his bids for the presidential nomination.

Overcomes Kennedy Support

But Adlai E. Stevenson's decision to let the convention decide in an open contest who should be his running mate stirred Kefauver to try for the number two party post. He won it Friday after two ballots, overcoming a lineup of Eastern and Southern states which was backing the candidacy of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

In his acceptance speech, Kefauver pledged that if elected to the vice presidency, "I will never demean the high office to traduce fellow Americans — I will never use it to sow division and distrust."

He said he did not believe the chief function of the vice president was to be a "political sharpshooter" or to provide "the smear under the protection of the President's smile."

Didn't Mention Nixon

His remarks obviously were aimed at Vice President Richard M. Nixon although Kefauver did not mention Nixon by name.

Top party strategists, it was learned, urged Kefauver to make a direct personal attack on Nixon in his speech but the Tennesseean rejected the idea.

Kefauver promised the convention that he would join Stevenson in fighting for a Democratic victory next November "as hard as I can."

He planned to leave Chicago today for a week's vacation with his family at McMinnville, Tenn., and then to hit the campaign trail.

Speaks From Experience

"I know how formidable a candidate he will be because I ran against him in several presidential primaries," Stevenson said. "He is an old friend and an able leader."

Mr. Truman, long hostile to Kefauver, forgot old differences and also said he was happy to have Kefauver on the ticket.

But there were some complaints from the South. Gov. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi said Kefauver's nomination raised "grave doubts" whether the Democrats could carry Mississippi in November.

Pattons Sell Farm In Brushy Township

Mr. and Mrs. Everett "Pat" Patton have sold their farm in Brushy township to Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens Jr., Eldorado. They will move to Harrisburg within the next two weeks, to property they have bought at the corner of Longley and Feazel streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bush, who sold them the place on Longley and Feazel plan to move to a farm south of town. The Pattons will install a heating plant at their new home, which will completely modernize the place.

Leaders Begin Task of Raising Campaign Fund As Convention Closes

CHICAGO (AP) — Suddenly-harmonious Democrats united behind their Stevenson-Kefauver ticket today for a fighting campaign to convince the voters that President Eisenhower is shuffling off his duties and letting the country "stall in the middle of the road."

Fired up by Adlai E. Stevenson's promise to carry the fight into "every town and village," Democratic convention delegates scattered to their homes while their leaders buckled to the task of raising the money for an all-out campaign.

The Democratic National Committee was called into session today to begin planning campaign strategy and wrestling with the money problem. Chairman Paul Butler said the national committee is shooting for about $3 million and hopes that volunteer groups can raise an additional $2 million.

Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver, the running mate who was chosen for him in a precedent breaking free for all convention fight, planned to get a few days rest before resuming the sharp attack on the Eisenhower administration which they began in their acceptance speeches before the convention's final session Friday night.

"Looser" Campaign Planned

A spokesman said Stevenson plans a "looser" campaign than he waged in his previous try at the White House in 1952, with fewer formal speeches and more cross-country barnstorming tours. Stevenson also plans to make liberal use of television.

Kefauver aides said the tireless Tennesseean would head for the hustings after a week's vacation. The hard feelings stirred up by the week of convention battling over the presidential and vice presidential nominations were—to all outward appearance, buried under a rosebud of party harmony at the final session.

Former President Truman, who wanted neither Stevenson nor Kefauver on the ticket, publicly embraced both and predicted they will give the Republicans as good a licking in November as they gave him at the convention.

Assures Party Members

Stevenson began his acceptance speech with words of reassurance to those Democrats who had qualms about renominating a one-time loser, and those who felt that he waged too "lofty" a campaign four years ago.

"Four years ago I did not seek the honor you bestowed upon me," he said. "This time, as you may have noticed, it was not entirely unsolicited. And there is another big difference. That time we lost. This time we will win."

Stevenson fed the hoarsely yelling, banner-waving partisans red meat.

Tractor's Chief Enemy Is Summer Dust

Dust is your tractor's chief enemy during the summer months, says R. L. Shawl, University of Illinois tractor specialist.

Even though work is lighter during the hot months than during spring, you should pay as much attention to maintenance now as you do during the rest of the year.

Take off the air cleaner at least once a year, and wash it out with gasoline. Do it more often if the tractor is pulling a combine or baler when there's a lot of dust in the air. Check the oil in the air cleaner every day under dusty conditions.

Shawl says it is also wise to check the tires for air pressure and cuts every two weeks.

Spark plugs need to be cleaned and reset every 150 hours of use.
Inspect them for cracks and burns, and replace if necessary.

Shawl says it is a good practice to check valve clearance at least twice a year. Also inspect the roto-caps on the valves to see that none are sticking.

A monthly compression test will help to prevent waste of fuel and loss of power. Unevenness of engine turnover during starting indicates loss of compression.

Shawl believes you should clean the bottom of the radiator periodically to prevent overheating. Also charge the storage battery occasionally, especially if the tractor is idle much of the time.

He strongly emphasizes keeping clean oil in your tractor engine.
Change it when it appears dirty or gritty, and at the same time replace the oil filter. It is also a good idea to check front wheel bearing play at regular intervals, and repack once a year.

Adequate facilities for area agricultural meetings and adult short course schools will be available in Southern Illinois University's new agriculture building when it is completed in 1957.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

With intermittent rains keeping the soil in good working condition, some farmers are getting their plowing done early for winter grains and for fall seedings of forage crops.

Herbert L. Portz, crops specialist at Southern Illinois University, says farmers ought to be planning their late summer and early fall plantings of forage grasses and legumes now. Preparing the land early for these crops helps insure firm, moist, weed-free seedbed when planting time comes.

Summer seedings of grasses legumes may be made without a companion crop around mid-August. However, if erosion is a serious problem it is better to use a companion crop. Winter rye or winter oats seeded at the rate of one bushel per acre will be satisfactory for this purpose.

The seedlings will get off to a fast start if the farmer will put on the required amounts of fertilizer at the time the seedbed is prepared. Do not forget to have the soil tested to learn the required quantities of lime, phosphorus and potash needed. If band-seeding is practiced, a portion of the fertilizer may be applied during the seeding operation.

Legumes should be included in all grass seedings to add quality as well as quantity of forage produced and to provide nitrogen for boosting the growth of grasses.
In choosing the mixture of grasses and legumes to be seeded, pick those that are suited to the fertility and drainage of the soil and to the livestock needs on the farm.

Legumes should not be seeded at depths of more than one-half inch but grasses ought to be planted from one-half to one inch in depth. A corrugated roller-type seedbed or a roller following broadcasting gives the most uniform depth of seeding. A grain drill may be adapted to prevent deep seeding by removing the spouts from the grain shoes and allowing them to freely distribute the small seed behind the furrow openers.

If seedings are made after September 15 it is usually best to hold the legume for spring seeding because generally there is no assurance that the seedlings will get a good growth before freezing begins. Seedings of winter wheat, except for the earlier planted Dual, can include grasses.

Now for a few words about early preparation of land to be sown to winter grains — winter oats, barley, or winter wheat. Portz says this has been found distinctly advantageous. Sod crops and grain stubble ought to be plowed down in mid-summer. Disking and harrowing are sufficient following row crops of corn or soybeans.

Disking the area lightly for weed control once or twice prior to final seedbed preparation is desirable for killing weeds and for keeping the seedbed more moist and firm so that the seed will germinate quickly after planting and become well established before winter.

Farm Population Slightly Higher

WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau reports that more Americans are staying down on the farm.

The bureau estimated the nation's farm population at 22,257,000 in April—slightly higher than the 22,158,000 reported in April, 1955, and the 21,890,000 in April, 1954.

The bureau said a slackening in the long-term farm-to-city movement appeared to be due at least partly to increased commuting by farm residents to non-farm jobs.

Bright Prospects For Excellent Corn, Soybean Yields

SPRINGFIELD — Prospects are bright for excellent 1956 Illinois corn and soybean yields because of "better than usual" soil moisture conditions for this time of year, the agricultural statisticians reported today.

The State-Federal Crop Reporting Service said "favorable" soil moisture conditions now prevail over most of the state, with dry area in northern Illinois in better shape because of recent rains.

About half of the state's corn crop, the service reported, is in or beyond the dough state, with ears large and well filled. In some areas more secondary shoots than usual are likely to produce good ears.

The service said about 95 per cent of the state's soybean fields are blooming, and podding is about 80 per cent complete. Filling is "generally excellent," the service reported.

The second cutting of alfalfa is virtually complete despite delays because of rain, and plowing for winter wheat is already about 65 per cent complete, "well above normal," the service reported.
The crop service also said harvest of Elberta peaches in the Jackson-Union county area is well underway.

More than one percent of salt in hog feed rations may produce the symptoms of salt poisoning, madness, running fits and paralysis resulting in death, says a University of Illinois veterinarian.

Strength of Concrete Depends On Water Used

To mix strong, durable concrete, you need to measure ingredients as carefully as a cook preparing dinner for guests.

The amount of water you put into concrete greatly affects its strength, says John W. Matthews, assistant professor of vocational agriculture and agricultural engineering at the University of Illinois.
He says 6 gallons of water per sack of cement is the proper ratio when using dry sand, or about 5 gallons of water if the sand is normally damp. Instead of changing the water-cement ratio use sand and gravel to get the right consistency, Matthews advises.

One part cement, 2 and a quarter parts sand and 3 parts gravel is the ratio he suggests for watertight concrete used in walks and floors. For footings, a mixture of 1 part cement, 2 and three quarters parts sand and 4 parts gravel is satisfactory.

For better mixing, which also adds to concrete strength, it is best to put water in the mixer first, then add part of the gravel.
Next put in the cement and finally the sand and the rest of the gravel in the amounts necessary to get a mushy but not soupy consistency.

To protect concrete from drying out for three to seven days, Matthews recommends covering it with burlap, sand or some such material and sprinkling it frequently with water.

177 Illinois Traffic Deaths During July

SPRINGFIELD — Traffic accidents killed 177 persons in Illinois during July, bringing the state total for the first seven months of the year to 1,111.

In the same seven-month period last year, there were 1,115 traffic fatalities.

Gov. William G. Stratton warned
"there has been a steady increase" in traffic deaths in the last four months and urged motorists to "slow down your speed."

Stratton said most accidents could be avoided or damages and injuries minimized if the drivers were operating at a "safe and reasonable speed."

Poisonous Monster
The lion's mane, a jellyfish which sometimes grows into a poisonous monster with 100-foot tentacles (numbering as many as 800), can kill a man. These huge specimens inhabit Arctic and Atlantic waters.

Make sure that any implement you pull behind your tractor is well lighted to prevent a serious accident.

Irrigation increased corn yields as much as 34 bushels an acre last year at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station.

Democrats Unite Behind Stevenson and Kefauver
is a matter between him and the American people," Stevenson said.
"So far as I am concerned, that is where the matter rests...
Makes 'Conduct' Issue
"But if the condition of President Eisenhower is not an issue as far as I am concerned, the condition and the conduct of the President's office and the administration is very much an issue." Stevenson said the Eisenhower administration has "smothered us with smiles and complacency" while social and economic advancement have stopped. He said the Republicans are even depicting the presidency as an "easy job."
"I say that what this country needs is not propaganda and a personality cult," he said. "What this country needs is leadership and truth. And that's what we mean to give it."
He said the truth is that the GOP is "a house divided" and Mr. Eisenhower is "cynically coveted as a candidate but ignored as a leader." He said the truth is that everyone is not prosperous and that the country is losing, not winning, the cold war.
"Intentions Not Enough"
"I for one am ready to acknowledge the sincerity of the Republican President's desire for peace and happiness," Stevenson said.
"But good intentions are not good enough and the country is stalled on dead center — stalled in the middle of the road — while the world goes whirling past." Stevenson made a point of expressing his pleasure at the convention's nomination of Kefauver as his running mate. Kefauver won the nomination Friday in a photo-finish second ballot over Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.
Stevenson said that Kefauver "has dignity; he has convictions, and he will command the respect of the American people and the world."
"Perhaps these are simple virtues, but there are times when simple virtues deserve comment. This is such a time."
Names Estes Trustworthy Stevenson said that if he and Kefauver are elected "and it is God's will that I do not serve my full four years, the people will have a new president whom they can trust."
The delegates roared approval of this statement, obviously an oblique thrust at Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon.
Kefauver, who preceded Stevenson at the microphones, also threw punches at Nixon, his prospective GOP rival.
"The chief function of the vice president should not be that of a

Calendar
Of Meetings
Galatia Masonic lodge No. 684, A. F. and A. M., will have its regular meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m. Paul Drott, W. M. political sharp-shooter for his party," he said. "It should not be that of providing the smear under the protection of the President's smile."
"As your vice presidential candidate, I promise you that I will never demean that high office to traduce fellow Americans. I will never use it to sow division and distrust."
Truman Buries Hatchet
Mr. Truman, who had backed Gov. Averell Harriman against Stevenson, showed the convention that he wanted to bury the hatchet.
"I am here to give my full support to Adlai Stevenson," he said.
"Gov. Stevenson is a real fighter and I ought to know. Any man who can take this convention the way he did should be able to take the Republicans next fall. He's given some of us here a pretty good licking and he's going to give Eisenhower a better one."
Mr. Truman, who expressed doubt three days ago about Stevenson's ability to win against Mr. Eisenhower, told the delegates that "some fellow who I will not name has said that Adlai Stevenson will have trouble winning in November."
"Now I want to tell you something," he said. "Don't let that worry you. That is what they said about me in 1948."

The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge and was followed with

Free Choice for GOP VP: Nixon

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Friday that Republicans would exercise a "free choice" for their vice presidential candidate at their San Francisco convention.
"Anyone who wants to be a candidate should have his name placed before the convention and then let the convention decide what it wants to do about it," Nixon said when he arrived here from Washington.
Nixon would not concede that the Democrats may have stolen a march on the Republicans by throwing the choice of a vice presidential candidate to an open convention choice without intervention, by Stevenson.
"The President and National Chairman Leonard Hall previously supported an open convention for the Republican Party," he said,
"and I think they took the right position."

Subpena Bankers In Paschen Probe

CHICAGO (UP)—Ten bankers have been subpoenaed before a federal grand jury investigating the welfare fund of Cook County Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen's office.
Federal prosecutors declined to name the bankers who were summoned for questioning until they testify. Authorities said they planned to question the men Monday.
State's Atty. John Gutknecht also planned to question the bankers.
Paschen, the Democratic candidate for governor, ousted two of his aides and ordered the fund discontinued after it was learned that donations to it had been requested from banks which had county funds on deposit.
Bankers who were requested to contribute to the fund said they were told the money was to be used for the welfare of employees under the auspices of the Herbert C. Paschen Employees Assn.
Gutknecht charged that some of the money was used for political campaigning and advertisements.

In Memoriam

In memory of Arch Baker, who passed away August 19, 1955: I have lost my life's companion, A life linked with my own, And every day I miss him more, As I walk through life alone. The call was short, the shock severe, To part with one I loved so dear; No one knows the silent heart-aches. Only those who have lost can tell, Of the grief I bear in silence For the one I loved so well. I never knew that hearts could ache With such a bitter pain, Longing for a vanished face, To hear his voice again. I never knew that nights could be So lonely, cold and dim, But, Oh, I learned so many things Because of losing him. If all the world were mine to give, I would give it, yes and more, To see his face I loved so dear, Come smiling through my door. Sadly missed by wife, Mrs. Arch Baker, and daughter, Mrs. Bill Barnes and her daughter, Judy, also his sisters, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Wilson. 44-1

HOW RESOURCEFUL ARE YOU?

Puppies are generally more resourceful than people! They never take fences seriously. They find a way to get over or under the obstacle.

People take fences seriously. They usually have more respect for their limitations than for their abilities. That's why so many of us live in a narrow, discouraging world without promise or hope.

And even as we speak thrilling words like freedom and opportunity and ideals, some of us wonder secretly just what these are and how they may be attained.

There are spiritual resources in life which can enable any man to achieve ideals. They are the simple, commonplace commodities of religion—things like prayer and faith—but they are the keys to all attainment.

God gave us these resources to use. And He gave us churches to teach us how to use them. Forget your fences—discover your resources in Church next Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'The Grounds of Christian Assurance'

I John 3:19; 4:6

GOLDEN TEXT: "For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." (I John 5:4)

INTRODUCTION—Let us not forget that the epistles of John were written to Christian people. The purpose of these letters was to strengthen those early Christians who were being tempted by false teachings. John, under the leadership of the Holy Spirit, was urging those Christians to stand fast by the truth as found in Christ.

There is false teaching today. After more than 1900 years there are still multitudes of weak Christians who are tempted by false teachings. This portion of God's Word can be a special blessing to all such people.

The assurance of the believer in Christ is a precious doctrine indeed. It gives the Christian the ability to face any crisis with serenity of mind and peace of mind.

I ASSURANCE WITHIN (3:19-21)

When a person knows that he has been "born again," he has an inward confidence of which the world knows nothing. Being "born again" means simply that one has come, as a little child, to God and confessed his sins to God. He has repented (turned away from those sins), and he has placed his complete trust in Jesus Christ, the Son of God, as his own personal Savior.

When this is done, complete assurance fills the heart and mind of any person. There is an inward peace, because "God is greater than our heart."

II PRAYERS ARE ANSWERED (3:22-24)

Please notice that this assurance is not for those folks who just talk religiously. Talk is cheap. Many people attend church regularly and put on a religious air who have never really been born again. This assurance is really only for those who actually know Jesus Christ as Savior.

If your prayers are not being answered, read verses 22 and 23 over several times. How do you measure up according to these standards? Are you keeping God's commandments, and are you doing daily that which pleases Him? If not, your prayers cannot be answered.

III HOLY SPIRIT WITHIN (4:1-3)

The Holy Spirit dwells within every Christian. He is there as a source of unlimited power. After all, He is God!

Many Christian people are walking around in weakness when they could be parading in power. Many Christians seem to not be aware of the potential power that dwells within themselves.

People today, just like people in John's day, need to know that the Holy Spirit witnesses to the fact that Jesus did come in the flesh as God and that He will come again. Any other spirit, or, thinking is false.

You may be sure that anyone who teaches otherwise is not a Christian. They teach falsehoods. Thus saith the Lord!

CONCLUSION—(4:4-6) John calls Christians, "little children." Christians are God's children. We need not be tempted, nor, led off by false teachings, because Christians know the "spirit of truth and the spirit of error." We close with the words of a wonderful old hymn:

Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine!
Oh, what a foretaste of glory divine!

Heir of salvation, purchase of God, Born of His Spirit, washed in His blood.

This is my story, this is my song, Praising my Savior all the day long.

Packers to Get Look at Rookies In Tilt Tonight

MILWAUKEE (U.P.) — The Green Bay Packers will start rookie Bart Starr at quarterback tonight in their pre-season opener against the Philadelphia Eagles in a bold move by Coach Lisle Blackburn to find a top-flight understudy for veteran Tobin Rote.

Starr has been a standout in the month-long training period at Stevens Point. One of the problems, the Packers must solve if they are to be contenders this season, Blackburn has said, is to find a "good relief man" for Rote.

The rest of the backfield will be made up of veterans, with Al Carmichael at left halfback, Breezy Reid at right halfback and either Howie Ferguson or Gordon Duvall at fullback.

The line will be all-veteran. However, Blackburn said he's anxious to see what rookies Forrest Gregg, a tackle, Emory Barnes, an end, and George Cummins, a guard, do against a real enemy.

In the backfield, rookie runners Dick Gregory, Bill Roberts and Bobby Maddox are due for plenty of action.

Jansen Hurls Reds to 8-2 Triumph Over Braves; Dodgers Bow to Phils, 3-2

By United Press
Larry Jansen stood out today as the man the Cincinnati Redlegs have been searching all season: A pitcher who can beat the Milwaukee Braves.

The 36-year old former New York Giant star turned that trick for the second time in eight days Friday night when he hurled the Redlegs to an 8-2 triumph over the league-leaders. He now owns two of the Redlegs' five wins over Milwaukee this year.

The triumph moved the Redlegs into second place in the National League pennant race 2 1/2 games behind the Braves and a half game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who bowed to the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2.

Jansen yielded only seven hits, including a two-run, first-inning homer by Ed Mathews, and struck out seven.

The Redlegs tied the score at 2-2 in the fourth inning on Ted Kluzewski's 28th homer, Wally Post's double and Ed Bailey's single. Jansen and rookie Taylor Phillips then matched shutout pitching until the eighth when the Redlegs broke loose for six runs in a rally featured by Post's 24th homer and a three-run circuit drive by Smokey Burgess.

Roger Craig shut out the Phillies for eight innings but two walks and an error by Jackie Robinson got him into trouble in the ninth and the battling Phillies promptly moved in for the kill. Elmer Valo greeted relief pitcher Clem Labine with a two-run single and then Granny Hamner and Roy Smalley walked in succession to force in the winning run.

Wally Moon singled home Don Blasingame with two out in the ninth to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Herman Wehmeier flipped a four-hitter for his eighth win while towering Bob Rush suffered his eighth defeat compared to 11 victories.

Willie Mays collected three hits including his fifth homer in five games, to lead the New York Giants to a 5-3 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Joe Margoneri scored his fifth triumph with relief aid from Hoyt Wilhelm and Johnny McCall in the ninth. George Munger lost his fourth decision.

Ray Moore held Mickey Mantle hitless in four tries and pitched his way out of numerous jams to give the Baltimore Orioles a 6-4 decision over the American league leading New York Yankees. Dick Williams' grand slam homer featured a five-run rally in the fourth inning that dealt rookie Ralph Terry the loss.

The Yankees, however, lost no ground to their principal contenders because the Kansas City Athletics routed the Cleveland Indians, 9-3, and the Washington Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox, 6-5.

The Senators made it 10 victories in 14 games with the Red Sox as Jim Lemon drove in four runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly. Pedro Ramos yielded nine hits but beat the Red Sox for the fifth time and scored his 11th triumph.

Nelson Fox singled home Bubba Phillips with two out in the ninth to give the Chicago White Sox a 4-3 verdict over the Detroit Tigers. Dixie Howell won his fourth game while Al Aber lost his fourth. Minnie Minoso homered for the White Sox.
